The meeting commenced with an opening prayer by Big Sis Nneoma. Chairman Chinenye began by reminding the group of the previous discussion with Uncles Ebere and Emeka, stressing on the importance to take this planning seriously and to generate concrete business ideas. Big sis nneoma asked everyone to share their business ideas. The PRO Chidera proposed a logistics venture encompassing delivery services, inventory management, warehousing, packaging and handling, Customer service and information flow for both companies and individuals. Chisom, Asst. Secretary Chidinma, and Treasure did not have any suggestions, Big Sis Nneoma encouraged everyone to develop a proposal before the next meeting. Chinonso proposed her idea for a custom printing service for apparel and souvenirs, as well as a real estate business dealing in properties and assets like cars, though Big Sis Nneoma noted the latter might require significant capital. Elenora agreed with the for PRO Chidera's idea ask it will create employment for members, and Uzoma suggested a hair business i.e selling of things for like hair extensions and so on in bulk, which Big Sis Nneoma noted aligned well with the warehousing of other ideas, ultimately stating that PRO Chidera's logistics plan seemed the most feasible in some states. The Chairman Chinenye inquired about creating a unifying business name; Chinonso advised waiting until all ideas were submitted to find a suitable name, especially before providing feedback to Uncle Ebere. Big sis nneoma made an alternative proposal to create a central website hosting the various business units, The PRO Chidera suggesting social media promotion, which Big Sis Nneoma wisely advised securing a operational business first. Chairman Chinenye offered to assist with website development after ideas were finalized. Big sis Nneoma said that we need to start with a feasible business before venturing into other ones. The PRO 2 Daniel contributed additional suggestions focusing on T-shirt branding and event management. For next steps, Chairman Chinenye tasked everyone with conducting thorough market research on their ideas, and Big Sis Nneoma advised beginning with members who had completed their schooling before the others can join, urging everyone to commit to the venture to honor their grandparents' legacy. To formalize their schedule, Asst. Secretary Chidinma requested fixed meeting times; it was unanimously agreed to meet three times a month on Saturdays, with PRO Chidera responsible for sending reminders and pinning them in the group chat, and a designee to be chosen for calendar alerts. The meeting concluded with a closing prayer by Asst. Secretary Chidinma by 3:05pm.
